

- 607. Agrawal, S.C. and Rege, N.D. 1960. Planning and managing grasslands. J. Soil & Water Conserv., India, 8:5-11.

The paper deals with planning and management aspects of grasslands which are in a seral stage in our country in between forest on one hand and desert on the other. Any development of grassland will require assessment of present resources by condition survey, i.e. judging the condition with respect to the climax grasslands, namely, excellent, good, fair and poor condition class. The management measures and some of the useful findings have been presented.