

1100. Sastry, G., Vishwanatham, M.K. and Nayal, M.S. 1995. Watershed responses to integrated landslide reclamation measures. J. Soil & Water Conserv., 39(3&4):219-226.

The paper deals with integrated control measures for landslides on watershed management basis. Management of a landslide, occurred at Nalotanala watershed in Mussoorie hills has been described. The authors bring out that area affected by landslides could be effectively stabilized when planned as a watershed management plan. Its impact assessment could be precisely done on a multi-parameter basis. This indicated the varying effectiveness of different measures and the possibility to consider these for investment decisions.