

- 1167. Mittal, S.P., Mishra, P.R., Grewal, S.S. and Agnihotri, Y. 1986. Success story of Sukhomajri watershed management project. Indian J. Soil Conserv. 14(3):1-8.

The article gives an account of the establishment of an Operational Research Project at Village Sukhomajri near Chandigarh in the Shiwalik ranges by CSWCRTI and discusses various successful achievements made by the project in mitigating the problems of heavy soil erosion, siltation, poor state of agriculture, etc. The project, based on the principle of watershed management, runoff water harvesting and local people's active participation has gained recognition all over the world. All these aspects have been projected in the paper.