Seminar on Strategy for mass mobilization and people's participation in the implementation of watershed management programme, Min. of Irrigation & Power, New Delhi, Oct. 29-30: 141-146.

The paper discusses various facets of the problem of peoples' participation in watershed management. A viable programme of village level watershed development that can ensure protection of the hilly area and at the same time mitigate the sufferings of the poor people has been described on the basis of experiences gathered at Operational Research Project, Sukhomairi in the State of Haryana.
