

879. Dayal, R. and Singh, A. 1973. How they stopped the march of ravines. Intensive Agric., X(11):23.

Discusses reclamation of ravine lands and stopping the process of further soil erosion and suggests that degraded agricultural lands near ravines can be brought back to their normal productive use by adopting soil conservation measures like peripheral bunds, contour bunds, minor levelling, construction of inter bunds to reduce the length of slope combined with suitable soil and water management techniques.