and biotic non-interference.

Results of preliminary trials conducted at Kota to assess the forage yield production of Chambal ravines indicate that these ravines would yield an average of 5,100 lb (green weight) of grass/acre after 3-4 years of simple closure.