

- 1232. Mittal, S.P. 1989. Environmental conservation through people's participation-A success story. In: Environmental Protection-a movement. Pub. Nature Conservators - India: 63-69.

Environmental deterioration taking place in Shiwaliks can not only be halted but reversed through people's participation as demonstrated in a model watershed management project in a village called Sukhomajri. A few lessons learnt during the implementation of the project have been listed.